- Since 01.01.23, Corporate Centre has included two restatements related to the application of IFRS 17, alongside the implementation of IFRS 9 for insurance activities. For a better readability, these restatements will be reported separately each quarter.
- Operating expenses deemed “attributable to insurance activities” are recognised in deduction of Revenues and no longer booked in operating expenses. The impact of these entries for internal distributors is presented in Corporate Centre. These entries have no impact on gross operating income.
- The impact of volatility generated by the fair value accounting of assets through profit and loss (IFRS 9) is presented in Corporate Centre and therefore has no impact on Insurance revenues; the increase in volatility is related to the financial markets this quarter.
